"POLITICS" CHARGED TO BOARD WELTY BLAMES SLIP OF PEN FOR CONVICTION

ERROR IN RECEIPT'S DATE IS AT FAULT, HE CLAIMS

Motion for New Trial to be Heard Friday in Toledo

TWO YEAR TERM POSSIBLE

Fine of $500 With or Without Prison is Permissible

Belief that a mistake in the dating of a receipt was the cause of the adverse verdict given him in federal court at Toledo Tuesday was expressed by Benjamin F. Welty, former congressman, Wednesday.

One of the pieces of evidence introduced was a receipt bearing the date of March 10. This was for the sum of $1,274.64 asked by Welty as payment for his expenses.

As the judgment in court was not rendered until March 27, the receipt made it appear that the money was paid before the court authorized the action, Welty said.

As a matter of fact, checks drawn for the money and which bear the endorsement of Welty and Lawrence Strayer as guardian are dated April 10 and April 8 respectively, Welty asserts.

It is his belief that the date on the receipt is a slip of the pen and that evidence can be introduced to show that it was given on April 10 rather than March 10.

Hearing on a motion for a new trial will be heard Friday in Toledo, Welty said. At that time the new evidence will be introduced and a rehearing of the case asked.

Judge Paul Jones of Youngstown, before whom the case was tried, will sentence Welty, if the motion for new trial is denied, it is believed.

The conviction, it is said, was a surprise to Welty, and a shock to his wife and daughter who sat beside him in court during progress of the trial. Welty up until the last assured his friends and counsel that he would be vindicated.

PAYMENT RESTRICTED
Under the law the maximum charge for services such as Welty performed for Franklin R. Strayer, Elida was $3. He admitted having been paid $1,274, but contended his agreement was with Strayer's father who obtained a judgment for $2,400 against Lawrence Strayer's brother and guardian of Franklin.

Attorneys for the government at the hearing were George Reed and Wendell Keyser.

Penalty Welty is facing consists of two years imprisonment, a fine of $500 or both. Appeal may be taken on error to the U. S. Circuit court, and eventually carried to the U. S. supreme court.

Charges against Welty originally were preferred by the American Legion post of Lima.

"WHAT IS IT," IS CITY WONDER

DELPHOS—"It is a garter snake," said one man. "It is a milk snake," said another. "I believe it is a water snake," said the third man. All were passing opinion on a snake about 12 inches long which had strayed into the heart of the city Tuesday afternoon and taken refuge under an automobile parked on West Second-st.

To determine whether it really was a water snake, it finally was pushed into the canal and it immediately disappeared beneath the surface of the stream.

This is the first time anyone in Delphos has seen "snakes" in quite awhile, it is stated.

SEWER WORKERS WILL BE PAID

Eureka-st Men to Get Money in Full, 10 a. m., Thursday

BINGHAM GIVES OUT WORD

Decision Reached at Meeting
Held With City Manager

Laborers employed by the Fred R. Jones Co. on the intercepting and outfall sewer job on Eureka-st, which job defunct last Wednesday will be paid in full at city hall Thursday at 10 a. m.

Agreement to this effect was reached at a conference in the office of City Manager C. A. Bingham Wednesday morning. The total wage claims due the laborers amounts to $5,500 in round numbers, it was announced after the conference.

Those participating in the conference were H. E. Pendleton of New York City, representing the Royal Indemnity Co. of New York, bondsmen for Jones; D. B. Hamer of Cleveland, representing the Jones, interests; City Manager Bingham, Mayor Harold Cuninghame and City Commissioner Ellis Jones.

No final decision had been reached up to the time the conference broke up at noon on the question of who shall complete the sewer job but Pendleton told The Lima News that the job positively "will be completed this fall."

CONTRACTOR SOUGHT

During the forenoon Pendleton put in a long distant call for a contractor to come to this city Thursday and look over the job with a view of taking over the Jones contract and completing it. After a study of the work and the estimate which the city already has paid Jones, the bonding company representative said the contract is about 50 per cent finished and there is approximately $160,000 worth of work for some contractor. He said he is trying to get a contractor to come on at once and take over the work.

Hamer did not care to discuss the situation after the conference but Pendleton said that he is going to remain here for several days to see that the work is resumed some way. City officials expressed themselves as satisfied with the progress which has been made.

Wednesday morning's conference was given over mostly to the question of getting the wage claims of laborers adjusted, officials said. City officials have determined this phase of the trouble shall be settled first and the agreement reached is the result of their efforts.

Wednesday afternoon Pendleton and Hamer with city officials looked over the job. "All I can say for certain is the job will be finished without any court action on the part of the city," Pendleton told The Lima News Wednesday morning.

RAIL RATES MAY BE SLASHED

Reduction Intended as Aid to Farmer Considered

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — A movement toward possible reduction in freight rates on grain as an aid to the farmer has been instituted by the government in two directions.

The interstate commerce commission is preparing to proceed with an investigation to determine the reasonableness of present railroad rates on grain and grain products to cover all sections of the country. At the same time indication has been given by Samuel Rea, head of the Pennsylvania system, that he may call other railroad presidents into conference to consider a reduction in freight rates on grain designed for export. President Coolidge asked Rea to institute such a movement among rail executives when he called at the White House yesterday.

Announcement of the interstate commerce commission's rate investigation for what a schedule of hearings will be fixed shortly, was made simultaneously with the commission's temporary denial yesterday of the petition of western grain growers for a rate cut.

NEW MYSTERY ELEMENT ENTERS WOMAN'S DEATH

YOUNGSTOWN — A new element of mystery was injected into the slaying of Mrs. Grace Dorsey, 67, in her home here yesterday when it was discovered today that telephone wires on the nearest house to the Dorsey residence had been cut three times within the past week.

Residents of the street told of seeing an automobile filled with foreign looking men passing slowly up and down the street one night last week, but failing to stop at any of the houses.

by Findlay Police

FINDLAY — (United Press) — One thousand dollars worth of bonded whisky, part of which bore impertinent labels, was seized by police who searched the basement of the Wesleyan Methodist church here today.

Authorities acted on a tip from a man who refused to give his name. The liquor apparently had been stored there by bootleggers. It was explained, in the hope that the sanctuary would be immune from raids.

REORGANIZATION OF WORK ASKED

Speakers At Welfare Conference Assert Mode Of Operations In Many State Institutions Should Be Changed For Good Of Inmates

Divorcing of all state welfare work from partisan politics is the keynote of the thirty-third annual welfare conference which opened in this city, Tuesday, as revealed by the address of Judge C. W. Hoffman of Cincinnati Tuesday night at Memorial Hall and E. G. Shaw at Trinity M. E. church Tuesday afternoon.

Judge Hoffman is president of the conference and judge of the domestic relations court in Cincinnati and Shaw is former chairman of the state prison commission. Both speakers urged complete reorganization of the state welfare department of which John Harper is director and Judge Hoffman urged abolition of the state's industrial schools as they are now organized and operated.

"The more imperative and immediate need of the State of Ohio today is the re-organization of the Department of Public Welfare of the State on the basis of its elimination from the sphere of partisan politics and the abolition of the industrial schools as they are now organized and operated," said Judge Hoffman.

Judge Hoffman advised that the administration of the affairs of the Public Welfare Department should be by a non-partisan board with power to employ trained experts in all that pertains to child welfare and the care and treatment of adult offenders and that these trained experts should be obtained irrespective of their residence, religious belief or political creed.

HOSPITALS NEEDED
He asserted that the industrial schools should be converted into institutions or hospitals for children afflicted with conduct disorders that require intensive observation and treatment. Judge Hoffman urged the need for a campaign for more efficient administration of present laws concerning dependents and delinquents; the enactment of a law providing for probation for adult offenders; and a law providing for physical and mental examination of convicts before release on parole.

Judge Hoffman as president of the Ohio Welfare Conference sounded the keynote of the convention, which already has a record breaking registration of more than 500 social welfare workers of the state.

"If the current criminal law procedure were scientific," said the Cincinnati judge, "it would not permit afflicted soldiers being sent to the penitentiaries and being branded and stigmatized as convicts."

Speaking of the family Judge Hoffman said "a scientific study of the family reveals that many of the evils that disrupt the home are not hereditary but are no more than required traits or modes of action of the parents which serving of the pattern determine the action of the child. The

100 Oklahoma City Blocks Covered by Mud, Debris

WATER RAPIDLY RECEDING

Smaller Towns Are Still Threatened, However

OKLAHOMA CITY — (United Press) — Flood waters from the North Canadian river, which took a toll of two lives and caused $2,000,000 damage in Oklahoma City, swept down stream today threatening smaller cities.

The overflow here receded so that many of the 15,000 persons driven from their lowland homes when the city reservoir broke, releasing a great wall of water, were able to return.

About 2,000 were still being cared for in schools and churches and other public buildings. Rowboats were being used to transport them to their homes, some entering the second story windows.

Dealers were unable to obtain milk from rural districts due to high waters and the supply was cut short.

Unable to obtain heat from Packington, cut off by the flood, arrangements were being made to rush supplies here from Kansas City, St. Joseph and Omaha.

TOWNS THREATENED
The crest of the flood reached Shawnee today. Jones City and Spencer, two small settlements between Oklahoma City and Shawnee were surrounded by water.

Rock Island tracks following the course of the river near Shawnee were torn up and moved to higher ground. The Santa Fe shops were also in the flood zone.

Mud and debris carried up by the flood, covered more than one hundred blocks in Oklahoma City where the waters swirled for several hours. A score of houses were washed away while hundreds of homes were flooded.

ALLEGED SLAYER WORKED HERE

Dr. Hiram Good Formerly Was on State Hospital Staff

Dr. Hiram Good of Shelby-co, sought by police in Lima in connection with the death of Jesse E. Flinn, a carpenter, following an alleged quarrel and fight between the two men, was an assistant at the Lima State hospital for about six months, Dr. Charles H. Clark stated Wednesday.

Dr. Good, together with another doctor from St. Louis, were ordered to the Lima State hospital as assistants because of the shortage of physicians during the war.

Dr. Good arrived at the hospital in October, 1918, during the influenza epidemic. He remained until the spring in 1919.

"During his stay at the hospital Dr. Good became quite popular. He was a good mixer and well-liked by the patients," Dr. Clark said, adding "Dr. Good's work was quite satisfactory and his conduct was all that could be desired."

After leaving Lima Dr. Good joined the staff of the state hospital at Dayton.

Dr. Good was in Lima about seven weeks ago and spoke to one of the doctors at the state hospital. Dr. Good expressed his intention of visiting Dr. Clark but did not do so.

FUEL IS HIGH—HERE'S HOW TO SAVE IT!

EXPERT DECLARES $2,000,000 WORTH IS WASTED DAILY IN COUNTRY

This is the first of a series of articles obtained by The Lima News for its readers to help them save fuel this winter. All of the articles are by experts and with fuel at the present high level, efficient use of it is essential. These articles will help householders in this respect.

WASHINGTON — (Special) — Ulling Kid Winter, who has been in seclusion for some months, is getting ready to step forth and knock the public for a long series of big fuel bills.

Prepare, then, to circumvent the kid by getting more heat out of less coal, or gas or whatever else you use to keep warm.

Samuel S. Wyer, associate in mineral technology of the Smithsonian Institute, has just issued a pamphlet giving the exact procedure for the most economical and efficient use of coal, coke, gas and oil in the home. If correct methods were understood and applied throughout the country, he contends, the same heating service could be obtained with one-half the fuel and there would result a saving of easily $2,000,000 worth of fuel a day.

Simultaneous with the issuance of Mr. Wyer's pamphlet, Rudolph

Kudlich, a fuel engineer of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, today gives some timely suggestions on the gentle art of firing the furnace. Here, in substance, is his advice to coal users:

COOKING COAL

"By burning coal, instead of cooking it, you can save 25 per cent of your fuel bills.

"Too many persons make the mistake of covering the entire fire bed each time they add coal. When this happens, most of the gases are cooked out and escape up the chimney without being burned.

"The best method is to apply a heap of fuel on one side of the furnace and then, when this has burned down, throw the next heap on the opposite side. This alternating method always exposes a bed of live coals to ignite the gases.

"A big fire burning slowly is cheaper in the long run than a little fire burning fast. Fast burning means incomplete combustion and hence more waste in the ashes.

"Regulate your fire by the damper and the ash-pit door instead of by the fuel door. Every pound of excess air taken in above the fire cools the furnace just that much. Keep your furnace clean—it's mussy work, but it pays. Keep the heating pipes well covered."

"FUEL POWDER"

That proper methods will save a surprising amount of coal was demonstrated to fuel engineers not long ago during their investigation of a "fuel powder" that had appeared on the market. This, when sprinkled in the furnace under very careful and detailed directions, was supposed to bring about a tremendous saving.

It did. But the stuff analyzed more than 90 per cent common salt and just enough permanganate of potash to give the flames a pretty red hue. The printed directions for its application, tho, were about the best set of furnace instructions ever devised. They were so good that they performed just as efficiently without the powder as with it. In them lay the secret of savings.

Subsequent articles will deal with Mr. Wyer's rules for burning gas, coke, coal and other fuel.

Next article: Fundamentals of heating.

"IT'S A LIE," SAYS BINGHAM

Replies to Reports he Seeks to Run City Into Debt

PUTS BLAME ON POLITICS

Has no Intention of Leaving City, Manager Asserts

City Manager C. A. Bingham Wednesday morning gave the "lie direct" to those "enemies of the city administration" who he declared are circulating stories that he is going to leave Lima for a better job in some city west of here.

Bingham was pretty much "riled up" Wednesday morning as the result of reports reaching him Tuesday evening that opponents of Commissioner Breckenridge and Harley are circulating the story that Bingham "just wants to run the city in debt and then leave it flat broke."

He said he has reliable information political enemies also are saying he has a job clinched in another city after the first of the year and does not care "how deeply the city gets into debt."

"FALSEHOODS," HE SAYS
"I want to brand all these stories as nothing but the worst kind of falsehoods," said Bingham. "I want you to tell the people of Lima I have no other job in sight, have not been negotiating for one and have not even thought of leaving this city. It is nothing but a lie from start to finish."

Bingham likewise was indignant he should be accused of having no interest in the city financial situation and of trying to run the city into debt.

"I just want to make it plain I have done everything possible to keep expenses within income and I am not trying to run the city into debt," he said.

"Just stop and think. My reputation as well as that of any other city manager, depends on how he runs the city business. If he continually shows a debt instead of a credit in the business, his capacity for administration is open to attack, provided he has been given the funds necessary to run the city properly. It would be foolish for me or any other city manager to run a city into debt just for the fun of it." That would not help his reputation any.

Bingham said the stories are being used not only to beat the three-mill levy but that politicians are circulating it in an effort to beat Breckenridge and Harley, the two city commissioners up for reelection in November, and who have supported Bingham in his administration as city manager.

OFFICERS FIGHT TILL DEAD

Texas Sheriff, Constable Shoot Each Other to Death

MARSHALL, Texas. — (Associated Press.) — The sheriff of Marion county and the constable of Jefferson met on the main street there last night and without a word shot each other to death.

Both men, B. B. Rodgers, the sheriff, and W. B. Proctor, the constable, were past 50 years of age. The constable showed the sheriff against a water hydrant, the few persons who witnessed the shooting, told the police. But while the sheriff momentarily lost control of his legs, his hand gripped his pistol, whipped out the weapon and fired. He hit Proctor once in the hip and again in the heart.

Shots from the constable's pistol crossed with those of Rodgers. The constable shot the sheriff thru the head while the latter was stumbling and slipping to the ground. Another bullet from the constable's weapon went wild. At that point the eye witnesses' stories were hazy, the police said.

According to police, the trouble arose possibly thru court papers given the constable not being served and in a fine being imposed on the sheriff subsequently.

WAR FRAUD CASES HELD UP

Prosecution Halted by Decision of Ohio Judge

WASHINGTON. — (Associated Press.) — The score or more government prosecutions in war fraud cases involving construction of army cantonments probably will be halted in view of the decision yesterday by Federal Judge Sater of Ohio in the test case relating to Camp Sherman.

How seriously the decision ultimately will affect the war frauds prosecution program is yet to be determined, but it became known today that action would be suspended at least until counsel of the war contracts section of the department of justice has gone into the question at length and conferred with Attorney General Daugherty. The Camp Sherman case and others already filed involve nearly $80,000,000 and six more bringing the total up to around $100,000,000 have been prepared.

Filing of the new proceedings, probably will be held up until department officials have studied carefully Judge Sater's decision, which held that the government's suits were not specific and that the cantonment builders were not trustees for government as contended by the government.

LAW WON'T HALT ILLEGITIMACY

Probate Judge Tells Welfare Conference of Problems

CITES BIBLICAL EXAMPLES

Courts Always Ready to Give Child Legal Standing

That illegitimacy which has contributed a certain per cent of the population since earliest dawn of history, cannot be entirely checked by mere enactment of laws, no matter how stringent, was the assertion made by Probate Judge J. H. Hamilton before the fifth state conference on illegitimacy in session at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday. The conference is meeting in conjunction with the Ohio Welfare conference.

"It matters not how stringent the law may be, or how many are passed, we still will have this problem," Judge Hamilton declared. "Sometimes we wonder when we think of the old Biblical characters and others we have in mind, if it is not part of the Divine plan that a certain portion of our population shall be illegitimate."

Judge Hamilton cited examples of illegitimacy in Biblical days, Abram, Lot and David, whom scriptures showed, he said, stepped aside from the paths of rectitude.

He traced the origin of laws pertaining to the problem from early civilization down thru the ages to the present day. In Bible days a child so born could inherit no property from either parent and neither he nor his heirs could hold office in the church.

PROTECTS MOTHER, CHILD
Under Roman law, children first were legalized by marriage of the parents and successive changes in the laws down to the present day more and more are designed for protection of the mother and child.

"Our courts at all times are ready to legalize a child," Judge Hamilton told his auditors. "If a child is born in wedlock, it will require strong evidence on the part of the husband of the mother of the child to put it out in the world."

"Under the present law, any unmarried woman can come into juvenile court, and is entitled to the same treatment as a girl under 18."

Judge Hamilton declared the law only went half way, as in order for the court to assume jurisdiction of the child, it must be assumed to be dependent or delinquent. To do this, he said may stigmatize the one whom the law apparently seeks to protect.

The speaker cited a number of examples of recent cases coming to his attention in court, to illustrate operation of the present laws.

POISON IS TAKEN BY WELKER

Estrangement Between He and Wife is Believed Cause

Russell L. Welker, 21, lies at his home, 632 S. Central-av., suffering the after effects of a dose of poison taken Tuesday evening with suicidal intent. His condition is reported not grave.

Estrangement with his girl wife, who has been living at the home of her parents, is claimed as the cause of Welker's attempt to leave his infant fatherless.

Threat that he would end his life unless she returned to him was made Tuesday afternoon by Welker to his wife of six weeks, who met him about 4:30 p. m. Tuesday.

He pulled the vial of sugar of lead from his pocket, showed it to his wife and told her he was going to end it all. "I have nothing to live for," he is reported to have said.

The girl wife returned to her parent's home, believing the demonstration and threat was a joke, it was reported.

Welker went to his home and took the poison in the seclusion of the bath room, according to his father who announced Wednesday afternoon that his son's condition is not serious.

greatest and most revolutionary change ever made in the law and criminal procedure is that incorporated in the juvenile court, acts of children's code of this country. Under these laws children have been taken out of the jurisdiction of the criminal law and the criminal courts.

Judge Hoffman charged that notwithstanding the purpose of the juvenile court is to save, to redeem and to rehabilitate children and not to punish and imprison, we find our industrial schools, and in some states the reformatory, filled with children. It is of the most importance that children under the age of 18 appearing in the juvenile court be prevented from entering criminal careers. No normal child ought to be institutionalized, be he either a dependent or delinquent.

"The enactment of a probation law in Ohio authorizing the courts to organize a probation department would result in the immediate reduction of the number committed to the penitentiary or reformatory or penal institutions of the State, without endangering life or property in any way, declared Judge Hoffman.

The Mothers Pension Law was given a boost by Miss Eugenia Bryant, Cincinnati, director of Mothers' Pensions. "Nothing in social service today," she said, "has more importance than the efficient administration of the Mothers' Pension Law." She claimed that it is more economical to care for children in their own homes than in institutions.

The Census of 1920 showed 1,060,858 children gainfully employed between 10 and 15 years of age, asserted Owen R. Lovejoy, of the National Child Labor Committee, New York, addressing the Division of Industrial and Economic Problems of the Ohio Welfare Conference, Tuesday. He declared that according to a recent estimate of the United States Children's Bureau, the number employed has increased at least 38 per cent since the Supreme Court annulled the Federal Child Labor Tax Law. Lovejoy urged loyal and active support of everyone for the protection to the adolescent children in industry.

There is no greater misapprehension than to think that the public has the saving of money as a primary motive, emphasized Dr. H. A. Miller, Oberlin College, in addressing the Welfare Conference, Wednesday. He emphasized that the public does not really want to continue to pour its money into penal institutions and systems which bring merely negative results when positive results are possible.

JUDGE ALLEN TO SPEAK
Judge Florence E. Allen of the Ohio Supreme Court will speak Wednesday night at a general session of the Ohio Welfare Conference at Memorial Hall. She will deal with the "Outlawry of War." Another speaker for Wednesday evening is Owen R. Lovejoy of the National Child Labor Bureau, who will deal with "Social aspects of Child Labor." The general session will begin at 8 p. m. with Judge Chas. W. Hoffman, Cincinnati, presiding.

Prior to the evening meeting a dinner program will be given for juvenile judges, probation and attendance officers at the Elks Club at 6 p. m. and a conference on social hygiene will be in session at the N. Y. Hotel.

NATALY SPEAKERS
Among other speakers on this Wednesday program were Harry H. Howett, Division of Charities, Columbus; Mrs. Lucia Johnson Bing, Athens, Chairman, Child Welfare Committee of the Ohio League of Women Voters; Dr. Wilford I. King, National Bureau Economic Research, New York City; Phillip Klein, American Association of Social Workers, New York City; Elsie Voorhees Johns, Department of Work for Foreign Born Women, National Y. W. C. A. Board, New York City; and Ruth Hill, American Association for organizing family social work.

The committee on resolutions was named Tuesday night as follows: James F. Jackson, Cleveland, Chairman; James Dunn, Toledo; Edith Campbell, Cincinnati; D. A. Peterson, Cleveland; E. TALKS ON WAR "Can it be possible people will clamor for the right of franchise and would go to war to retain this right if it were in one of our recent elections, but 42 per cent voted at the nomination allowing the minority to nominate and the 62 per cent vote at the election?" asked Supt. E. S. Grable, of the Stark County Home, at the Ohio Welfare Conference, Wednesday.

The state has a direct interest in all family questions—every child in a county represents a potentiality for good or evil, and the type of citizenship for which he will stand is a matter of great importance, not only for the county but for the state as a whole," this was the theme of Miss Ruth I. THE WOMAN POWER OF AMERICA is well illustrated by the thousands of women who are entering every profession, almost every line of business and politics as well. They are bound to make good, and there is no question but what health is their greatest asset. Many women, however, develop weak, nervous conditions and cannot stand the strain of a professional or business life. Such women should remember when beset with headaches, backache, nervousness, irritability or any ailment peculiar to their sex that the greatest of all remedies for such conditions is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly fifty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health and strength. It holds the remarkable record of helping 98 out of every 100 women who try it.—Adv.

Was Shot in Jealous Rage is Belief of Old Friends

OTTAWA — C. W. Bechtel, 35, who was shot and killed in the Canton, O. home of Mrs. Anna Bechtel, Wednesday, was a former Ottawa boy, the son of August Bechtel, who lives here. Mrs. Bechtel, who is alleged by Canton police to have shot Bechtel, is not an Ottawa woman as stated, nor has she ever been here, as far as is known. Bechtel roomed at the home of the woman. He was unmarried and when living in Ottawa worked on the railroad.

SEANCE PROVES INTERESTING

Reporter "Sets In" With Noted Toledo Medium

UNUSUAL EVENTS TRANSPIRE

Finds Phonograph Records Moved by Unseen Hand

(BY BEN DAY)

There are few things more mysterious than death, even tho it is seen each day in every part of the United States.

It is not so much the fact that a man or woman dies that provided the mystery but the question as to the life beyond. Anything which tends to tear away the clouds is of great interest to everyone.

Monday evening in a certain home in Lima a group of eight persons were privileged to sit with Miss Ada Besinnet, of Toledo, said to be one of the foremost mediums in this country.

The writer, one of those attending the seance, found himself to be not only the youngest person present but also the one least familiar with the phenomena that was expected to be seen. One other person, an elderly man, was attending as first seance but had previously expressed an interest in the work.

Before giving a brief description of what happened, it would perhaps be well to say that no attempt will be made to explain why phenomena of any kind is seen. A truthful description of what happened rather than why it happened will be the object.

EXAMINE ROOM

Prior to the beginning of the seance members of the party casually examined the room. There was a dining room table, extended nine chairs grouped around it, a phonograph and stand with three piles of records, two large chairs and a piano. All light had been excluded from the room and a red bulb had been placed in the light socket.

Miss Besinnet's controls demand that music be played thruout the evening, hence the phonograph and records. They also demand a solid table. Upon it are placed a trumpet, castanets, a tambourine and two ropes to be used later.

We are grouped around the table, I being placed opposite Miss Besinnet. The room was darkened, the phonograph started and the seance was ready to start.

We talked back and forth waiting for the first manifestation. It came very soon, balls of phosphorant light darting from one part of the room to the other. Shortly after this whistling was heard and on talking to Miss B. as we will call her to save time, we found she did not reply.

PANSY TALKS

Pansy's voice, I believe it was, then asked for a lively piece and the tambourine was picked up. As it darted around the table patting us on our knuckles or on our heads it kept perfect time to the music. It was left on my head. Pansy is said to be the spirit of a small girl.

Chief Blackcloud, an Indian spirit, appeared to be the master of ceremonies. He talked thru Miss B while other voices would be heard at various points. These voices, which sang during the evening, were Dan, a tenor of remarkable power, a contralto and a soprano. There may have been others sang also but the unpracticed ear could not distinguish the difference. Blackcloud and Pansy did the talking, the latter generally telling whether a loud or soft record or a song was desired.

After the announcement that a tie was to be made, Blackcloud called for the red light. We found one of Miss B's hands tied to the table and the other to the man to her right. Her feet and body were tied to the chair. Later a handkerchief was asked for and when the light was again turned on it was found tied over her mouth.

I was then asked to change to Miss B's right and in the darkness felt my hand being tied to hers. She was still gagged by the handkerchief. In the darkness that followed, the ropes were untied and tossed, coiled, to the table. The handkerchief was returned to the owner.

The table was then raised. During this performance my hand rested upon that of Miss B and as far as I could tell, she was pressing down. Nevertheless the table rose and veiled around. It was my impression that I was able to pull it down but others said they could not budge it.

I was then transferred to the phonograph. My duty was to keep it wound and play records asked for. It was playing as I took my seat. As the pieces ended the soundbox was raised, and the record, taken from the machine and placed directly in my hand. The room was pitch dark and I could not even see the phonograph. During the evening records would be turned over and the soundbox moved without any aid from me although they made me keep it wound.

Materializations were effected to the delight of those present. The faces shown reminded me of a white plaster statue only made of heavy fog rather than solid plaster. A spirit light of some kind lit up the faces. I found it difficult to identify the forms materialized before me. Others in the party, however, experienced better luck.

Trumpet voices and spirit writing came near the end of the evening. The writing was done a few inches from where my hands rested on the table but none of the notes came to me. I was pulled to my feet, however, to receive a message thru the trumpet.

Voices heard ranged from the tiny prattle of Pansy to the robust tenor of Dan. Only once, however, did we hear two voices at once. That was when Dan joined in with a soprano. Following the seance, we chatted with Miss B for a few minutes and found her quiet speaking and mannered and very much interested in her work.

SCATTERING OF NAILS ON HIGHWAY DUE TO ACCIDENT

Mystery concerning how hundreds of roofing nails came to be on the Harding highway near Scotts Crossing Saturday night and Sunday was cleared up Tuesday when J. I. Heffner, manager of the Lima Automobile club, discovered that they were spilled from a truck accidentally.

Heffner obtained a statement from the driver of a truck who said he was hauling two kegs of nails and that the head had come out of one, allowing the nails to scatter along the road.

Many auto owners had endless trouble Sunday with punctured tires as a result.

THEODORE BURTON RETURNS FROM TOUR OF EUROPE

CLEVELAND — European conditions are improving, in the opinion of Congressman Theodore Burton, who returned to Cleveland today from a three months tour of Europe. "I think European conditions are better today than they have been at any time during the last year," Burton said.

"With the possible exception of Germany, there is less distress in Europe than at any time since the war."

ROADS PUT LIMIT ON AUTO SALES

Speaker Tells Dealers Here That's Saturation Point

WAR ON JUSTICES LOOMS

Abuses of Fee System in for Fight in Legislature

That the saturation point in automobiles is to be fixed by the limits of good roads, was one of the ideas hammered home by a half dozen speakers at the first annual banquet of the Lima Automobile Merchants association at the Elks Home Tuesday night.

"There is no saturation point for the distributor of cars," Herbert Beckman, of Cleveland told the dealers, "save that imposed by road conditions. A car is what everyone wants."

"When a family talks of buying anything else, piano, victrola, a home, or what, there is some discussion, and maybe objection, but when an automobile is mentioned every one wants it."

HITS LEVY REMOVAL

E. J. Shover, of Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Automobile association, deplored the fact that state levies for road building had been taken off by the legislature. He said it meant a slackening of road building and maintenance in Ohio. Better roads mean more sales for automobiles, he said.

Speaking of the growth of the automobile, he recalled the prediction of former Gov. Harmon in 1909, when in signing the first state license law, he stated that in ten years Ohio would have 50,000 cars. By 1919 Shover said there were 500,000 cars licensed in the state. Efforts of the Ohio State Automobile association in behalf of the motorist were told of by Charles James, of Columbus. He declared there are no laws on the statute books today injurious to motorist or dealer.

WAR ON JUSTICES

Lifting the speed limit to 35 miles was one of this year's accomplishments, he said, and placing the justices of peace in the state on a fixed salaries to abolish alleged perauuction outbursts will be sought before the legislature at the next session.

The used car problem was discussed at length by nearly all of the speakers. Others who spoke were George Barly, president of the First National bank, who urged the dealers to consider that their business is just as important to the community as the largest department store; Lynn B. Timmerman, president of

Personnel Completed on Eve of Bluffton Campaign

DONAHAY REPLIES TO CRITICS

Has Not Abused Pardoning Power Governor Declares

CHILLICOTHE — (United Press) — Criticism directed against him for employing convicts at the executive mansion and for too liberal granting of pardons, was answered by Governor Donahay here last night with the declaration that he has "in no way abused the power of executive clemency" and that he intends to continue in his present course.

"I shall continue to give the prisoners the thoughtful attention from the chief executives, and a few cheap politicians cannot make a coward of me," Donahay declared, speaking before the Church Brotherhoods of Ross-co, meeting in the interest of the Intra-Wall Correspondence School for Prisoners.

Donahay said he has not granted a single pardon that was not first recommended by the trial judge, prosecutor, warden and clemency board.

"No man can get out of the penitentiary by political pull," he said, "and prisoners have been told that use of money by friends employing lawyers will militate against them."

Discussion of Subject Follows Citizenship Conference

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Expressions on the subject at the recent citizenship conference here and the approach of the governors' law enforcement to be held at the White House Saturday have combined to push the prohibition enforcement question to the forefront of national problems engaging the attention of the administration.

Phases of the problem to be presented for consideration at the governor's conference were discussed by President Coolidge yesterday at a conference into which he called Secretary Mellon and Assistant Secretary Miss of the treasury and Commissioner Blair of the internal revenue bureau. Whether there was any discussion of the declaration made by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania at the citizenship conference that prohibition should be personally directed by the president was not disclosed. REORGANIZATION OF "Y" SOUGHT

Constitutional Convention in Session at Cleveland

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press)

The first constitutional convention of the Y. M. C. A. of the United States and Canada, the purpose of which is to plan a national reorganization and federation of the local branches, opened here today with approximately 400 delegates from all over the country in attendance.

At least ten proposed constitutions will be submitted but doubt was expressed whether any of them would be adopted. William K. Cooper, general secretary in Washington, is of the opinion that the association will be governed by few by-laws.

Some of the delegates, it is understood, will contend for an organization by states, with states only represented in the national organization. Others are prepared to insist upon the full participation of local associations as equal.

At present the thousands of local organizations are operating under a voluntary affiliation, each association being supreme to itself.

The convention will continue thru October 26. It was called by a committee of thirty-three appointed at the last international convention in Atlantic City in November, 1922.

Mrs. J. P. Jones, assistant city treasurer, who has been visiting her mother in Richmond, Ind., was back on the job at city hall Tuesday.

Two Women You Know

There's the one who puts on her street costume, dabs a bit of powder on her nose and sallies forth to shop. She looks here, there and everywhere. She hunts and hunts and h-u-n-t-s. When she arrives back home she is jazzy and jaded—all mussed up mentally and physically.

There's the other who really has learned the shopping art. She reads the advertisements in the LIMA NEWS before she starts out. She finds out exactly what she wants and where to get it. Then she goes straight down-town and right to the store that has it. In this way she saves time, money and effort. She comes home fresh as a daisy and ready to get the family a good dinner instead of wishing they could go to a cafeteria.

And the moral is—"A Straight Line Is the Shortest Distance Between Two Points."

RENT IS $1 MONTH IN FORD'S TOWN

Pequaming Also Gives Water and Lights At No Cost

FUEL FAMINES UNKNOWN

Churches, Park and School Are Some of Features

L'ANSE, Mich. — (Associated Press) — Pequaming, nine miles north of L'Anse, is Henry Ford's town. The highest rent there is $1 a month, electric light and water are furnished at cost, the doctor's bill is never more than $1.50 a month, and fuel famines are unknown.

The Detroit automobile manufacturer acquired possession of Pequaming recently from Charles Hebard and Sons, Inc., pioneer lumbermen of the peninsula.

When the town was built in 1877 the owners set about to make it something different from other lumber towns. They wanted a community of comfortable homes and happy, contented workmen. They seemed to think more of the welfare of their employees than they did of the profits of their enterprise.

There are 105 cottages for the workmen, two churches—one protestant and one Catholic—an amusement hall, a school, a clubhouse, a waterworks, and electric lighting plant, a telephone system, a general store where all residents shop, and a public playground and park.

EACH PAYS SAME RENT

Each workman pays the same rent—$1 a month. He need never worry about coal, for he burns none. Instead he stuffs his big stove with hardwood from the company's forests, paying $1.75 for a large wagonload, barely the cost of cutting and delivering. A doctor administers to the ill of the community at a charge of $1.50 a month.

The beauty of Pequaming has won frequent comment from tourists. The streets are well shaded, the houses are of varying types, and there is a garden with every house. Purchase of the town gives Mr. Ford ownership of Pequaming's only industry, the sawmill property of the Hebard corporation. This includes a large saw mill, 14th and shingle mills, and 40,000 acres of land containing 400,000,000 feet of standing timber.

The saw mill is the third purchased by Ford since his invasion of the Upper Peninsula two years ago. The first was at Iron Mountain, not far from becoming an industrial center of the Upper Peninsula, and the second was at L'Anse.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

Ford has not announced what policy he will follow at Pequaming, or whether he will continue the Hebard program that has made Pequaming a model town.

Do You Want a Bigger and Better City?

Ask most any local man or woman this question and the answer will be in the affirmative.

If the city of Lima is to grow—if its limits are to be extended—if its new home additions are to be sold—if its population is to be increased, it must have a competent means of transporting its people about the many sections of the city, and transporting them with safety, comfort and to their satisfaction.

The only way that this can be done in a safe, sane and efficient manner is by means of the street railway.

A street railway company, on the other hand, must have the cooperation of not only the City Commission, but of each and every person in the community.

Every person who would see the city of Lima advance as it should and keep its place among its sister cities throughout the state of Ohio, are duty bound, as worthy citizens, to help, aid and assist the officials of the Lima City Street Railway Company to preserve street car service.

DANGER TO CHILDREN

SMALL wonder it is that more children are not injured or killed in the streets of Lima and other cities and towns, due to the practice of parents permitting them to play in the thoroughfares unrestrained in many instances.

It is appalling to contemplate the number of little ones whose lives have been crushed out or their bodies maimed when run down by motor vehicles. This condition is due to a combination of circumstances. The number of autos and other smaller vehicles in use is growing constantly. There is an increasing demand for better streets and highways, to meet the requirements of traffic. Along with it goes the danger of traffic accidents.

At most any street intersection in Lima, either in the downtown or residential section, it is dangerous for pedestrians to cross a thoroughfare. Even when the most rigid exercise of cars and caution is adhered to, the danger is not altogether eliminated, but is minimized to a considerable extent.

In view of conditions as they exist, the time is near at hand when civic bodies and even the schools must take up the problem of teaching the people, young and old, the lesson of self-preservation in the traffic situation. It is inevitable that as time goes on the number of motor vehicles will increase, more and more rapidly as science and invention work hand in hand and the demands for service and speed become more general.

Until such time a concerted movement is made toward impressing upon the pedestrian public the dangers that beset it, children particularly will be menaced by traffic. The careless and reckless driver we probably will always have with us, despite the most rigid laws and the most severe punishment. It is eminently safer for parents to warn their children about playing in the streets.

CONSISTENCY IS A JEWEL

NO matter just who it was said, "Consistency, though a jewel," the fact remains that the public at large is pleased when there is an exemplification of that sentiment in the affairs of life.

The opportunity is at hand for the people of this state to apply it. The Constitution of Ohio, as it now obtains in Article V, first section, provides that "every white male citizen of the United States . . . shall have the qualifications of an elector and be entitled to vote at all elections."

The color requirement was eliminated by the federal constitution in 1870 and the sex requirement went the same route in 1920. Although both requirements in the Constitution incorporated in the words "white male" are null and void, they still stand as an example of inconsistency. In November the electors will have the opportunity to eliminate this inconsistency. The amendment should be adopted.

The Democratic state organization is exhibiting consistency in continuing its fight against the Taft and Albaugh laws, to be voted on in November, in a referendum. That organization opposed the Taft measure which permits increase in tax levies, from the time it was presented in the legislature. It also fought the Albaugh law, which tears up the tax assessment machinery and makes it a political football for the use of other officials.

The Republican organization too is consistent, in continuing its fight for these laws, as it has done since they were introduced, passed by the general assembly, vetoed by the governor and reenacted by the law making body over the governor's protest. Announcement made by State Chairman Chas. Montgomery that the Republican state central committee will back Taft and Albaugh in their fight in behalf of the laws for which they are responsible, is consistency.

It may be inadvisable, under the circumstances for the Republicans to do it, but it's consistency nevertheless. It's a beautiful thing, it must be admitted.

STOP SALE OF MAN-KILLERS!

ABOUT 45 million dollars worth of firearms and ammunition were manufactured in our country in 1921, according to a census report. This year, probably more. The figure doesn't include the product of government establishments. It's the wholesale value, so the public pays considerably more for killing instruments.

Not much wonder there are so many murders and other crimes of violence, considering the millions of dollars worth of shooting apparatus available for the criminal world. One way to check crime and check it quickly: Curb the sale of firearms and ammunition. Lima still is lax in this matter.

MEDICAL RESEARCH IN DENTAL HYGIENE

Altho the teeth consist principally of calcium (lime) and according to some good authorities on nutrition in this country, notably Prof. Henry C. Sherman of Columbia university, the ordinary mixed diet of American urban resident is more often deficient in calcium than in any other chemical element, the amount of calcium or lime in the diet is not the dominant factor in the calcification of the teeth.

The dominant factor in this important process is the amount of vitamin-A in the diet, according to research conducted by the Mellanbys (husband and wife) for the medical research council in London. Their work showed that when this particular vitamin is taken in large amounts in the diet, it serves to retain and incorporate in the body tissues, the teeth particularly, the calcium salts in the diet. The Mellanbys observed this important physiological function of vitamin-A in the course of studies of the causation of rickets. When vitamin-A was deficient in the diet, the more cereal eaten the worse formed were the teeth—in dogs. A diet of oatmeal gave the dogs poor teeth, both dentin and enamel being defective, but when crude (unpurified or unchanged) cod liver oil was added to the oatmeal diet, the teeth developed normally. Cod liver oil, if not "purified" is one of the richest sources of vitamin-A.

No doubt the herring eaten by the highlander furnishes enough vitamin-A to save his teeth from the bad effects of oatmeal alone. Milk if taken raw, and cream and butter, are likewise rich sources of vitamin-A; these additions serve to save the reputation of oatmeal as a health food. The Mellanbys observe that a diet of eggs (egg yolk is still another food rich in vitamin-A) milk, green vegetables, herring and oatmeal will produce normal teeth. On the other hand a dietary of cereals, especially oatmeal, vegetable margarin, lard, lean meat, jam, sugar and tea, would lead to defective teeth.

The cow gets her vitamin-A from the green pasturage. We might say eat a bale of hay a day and keep the dental burr away—if alfalfa or clover could be condensed and marketed we could sell it to the American people as a breakfast food. But seriously, if we can't compete with the cow for that which assures sound teeth, we can get a sufficient ration of vitamin-A by making a judicious selection of nutrients and relishes or roughage in our diet, from infancy upwards.

Our own Professor McCollum of Johns Hopkins tried to teach us these very things long before the London research workers made their observations, pointing out that the composition of the diet, not only of the child, but of the expectant mother and the nursing mother, determine the visitors remain to pick mushrooms.

THIS LITTLE WORLD

NEW YORK

(BY GEORGE BRITT)
CHICAGO — (Special) — Visitors who breathe Chicago's smoky atmosphere, soil their collars from its soot and call it a dirty city are all wrong. The records show it is too clean. Tubs and showers are working overtime.

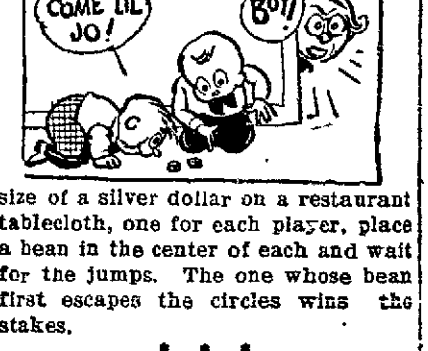

That from Colonel A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, who complains the city is using twice as much water as the most liberal allowance would require. The city is wasting 400,000,000 gallons of water a day or half the amount pumped, he declares. The waste equals two-thirds of all water pumped in greater New York, with its population two and a half times greater than Chicago's.

Too many cooks have spoiled many a kettle of broth, but there is one Chicago newspaper which is bearing up steadfastly under what might appear to an outsider as too many office boys. It has 30, by actual count. How they keep from under the feet of the workers can be explained simply as "They don't." Most of them are young enough to be excused half a day to attend school, and that helps account for the philanthropic publisher's providing them with his city room to play in. Another daily has only three office boys, and one is usually available at the cry of "Boy."

To the Association of Commerce list of Chicago industries add the growing of mushrooms. Their prolific sprouting in vacant lake shore lots in the fashionable apartment of "Streetsville" has brought an invasion of pickers from the shabby streets of the hinterland. Footmen of wealthy homes sent to drive off the visitors remain to pick mushrooms.

"Jumping Beans"—the vegetables which get the jim-jams whenever a ray of light shines on them—are providing a new game for enterprising gamblers. They draw circles the size of a silver dollar on a restaurant tablecloth, one for each player, place a bean in the center of each and wait for the jumps. The one whose bean first escapes the circles wins the stakes.

Local color is developing a rainbow brilliance and variety in the painting of busses and taxicabs. A few months ago the prevailing motifs were green for busses and orange yellow for cabs, with only occasional variation from black or maroon to private automobiles. New taxi lines now have blossomed into a bouquet of scarlet, blue, canary, white, old rose and purple, while the busses show reds and browns and belt the greens with yellow. The busses promise eventually to work out a color scheme to indicate route and

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

BUILDING BLAZE IS MYSTERY

$10,000 Damage Is Done at Steiner Stock Farm

COSTLY BARN IS DESTROYED

Mow Full of Hay May Have Originated Flames

Fire of mysterious origin at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday totally destroyed a modern cement dairy barn on the Steiner farm, Bellefontaine-rd., just outside the city limits, entailing a loss estimated at $10,000. Insurance of $5,000 was carried.

Contents of the structure went up in flames, including a stock bull, 1,000 bushels of oats, 50 tons of hay, 50 bushels of corn, one wagon, one boar and 10 pigs.

A loud explosion preceded discovery of the fire. An unknown motorist on the highway near the farm spread the alarm. He claimed that the force of the explosion jarred his automobile.

FLAMES SPREAD

Flames quickly spread over the structure. Residents attracted by the explosion and fire rushed to the scene to save the contents but the flames had spread a barrier and only several sets of harness could be taken with safety from the building.

Smoke and intense heat in the section housing the valuable bull and pigs suffocated the swine and bull almost instantly.

Fire company No. 5 and Fire Chief Mack arrived at the fire within 10 minutes after the alarm had been given. The structure was a seething mass of flames and efforts to save it were fruitless.

Adjacent buildings were endangered. A large cattle barn east of the burning structure was saved by tearing down a connecting fence and watering the roof.

After burning continuously for over an hour the cement blocks crumbled in the intense heat like powder, leaving only a charred mass as a remnant of the once costly building.

ANIMALS SAVED

Valuable horses and cattle were turned out to pasture during the day and they were saved.

Theory of incendiarism and instantaneous combustion are advanced as the origin of the fire.

Fact of the loud explosion is given as the reason for belief that the building was deliberately set afire by a fire bug.

Large amount of new cut hay, which is highly combustible forms a basis for the second theory as the hay left was enveloped in flames when fire arrived.

The fire Tuesday was the second conflagration at the Steiner farm within the past 14 months. In July 1922 the farm house was totally destroyed by fire caused by an explosion of a coal oil stove.

Estimated damage of $10,000 is a low figure, according to those at the scene who believe the barn alone was worth nearly $8,000.

County Farm Agent H. J. Ridge received word Wednesday that the Pittsburg Producers' organization has been completed and is now prepared to sell all species of livestock. The organization is owned and controlled by farmers and is one of 13 scattered throughout the country.

There is one at Cleveland and another being organized at Cincinnati.

C. K. VanMeter of Monroe-top, the only farmer in the state 10-acre corn contest, raised over 80 bushels of shelled corn to the acre, which is about double the average yield of the state in the past 10 years.

From 100 pound of ears, VanMeter obtained 83 pounds of corn.

Entries for poultry records are being received from farmers by County Agent Ridge. Many entries are now on file. Purpose of records is to study best poultry methods for increased egg laying and marketing values.

Ray Nelson of Perry-top, is one of the potato kings of Allen-co when it comes to raising big potatoes. Tuesday Nelson brought to Ridge's office seven potatoes each weighing over a pound. Fifteen of the spuds made a peck. Ridge said the produce represents some of the finest specimens grown in the county.

Second of the monthly meetings at Sugar Creek Grange will be held in the hall, three miles east of Cairo, Thursday night. Service of a cartoonist and reader have been engaged. ACOUSTICS IN CENTRAL HIGH AUDITORIUM TO BE IMPROVED SOON

Bid for the acoustical treatment of the auditoriums at Central and South Side high school buildings was awarded this George P. Little Co., of Cleveland, the amount being $5,593, at a special meeting of the board of education held Tuesday night. Three bids were received.

Little said the acoustical treatment probably would be done during the Christmas vacation week.

Most of the acoustical faults in Central auditorium are under the balcony and it is proposed to correct them. Improvements in the auditorium at South Side high school will be carried out as the building is finished.

Board also opened five bids for decoration work in Central auditorium. Owing to the fact, however, that this work would require three weeks and because the auditorium is in daily use as a study room, pending the completion of the wings at Franklin Junior high school, the bids received no action. It is likely that decoration work will be started early next year.

SPECIAL MARION HOUSE CAR IS BEING OPERATED

Operation of the special Marion house car between Lima and Marion, to accommodate local manufacturers and wholesalers sending goods to that city has been started by the Erie Railroad Co. John S. Link, manager of the traffic bureau of the board of commerce announced Wednesday.

He said the first car left Lima at midnight Oct. 6 and reached Marion, ready for unloading Oct. 8. The second car left here at 5:30 a. m. October 11 and was in Marion ready for unloading, October 12 at 3:30 p. m.

Heretofore it has taken from five to six days to get direct shipments from Lima into Marion, Link said, and it was for this reason the traffic bureau, after many complaints from Lima wholesalers and manufacturers, asked the Erie to establish the Marion House car. This car, instead of going to the Marion transfer station, as the other cars did, goes direct to the railroad's warehouse and can be unloaded at that point. The cars that go to the transfer station are skipped around from place to place, he said, thus causing delays. He urges Lima wholesalers and manufacturers to patronize the Marion house car service.

Mishap Delays Cars But Gets Roadbed Fixed

Delphos — "It's an ill wind, etc."

An accident at the Ft. Wayne power plant of the Ft. Wayne, Van Wert & Lima Traction Co., Tuesday stranded a limited car here for several hours but it also held up a work train and thereby hangs a tale.

Need of repairs on the Second-st. crossing here long have been needed. We are told, the company apparently finding no time to make the repairs, was to have a work train forced to remain on a siding here opposite the station workmen took advantage of the opportunity to raise the roadbed and make the needed repairs in other places.

The accident, which shut off all power on the line, held up two passenger cars, a freight train, a stone car and the Lake Shore Electric's car No. 10 known as No. 115 when operated over the Ft. Wayne, Van Wert & Lima line. The limited was stalled at the Northern Ohio and Nickel Plate crossing at Second-st.

FARMERS SEND 70 CARS DAILY TO CREAMERY CO.

DELPHOS — Seventy cans of cream are sent every week from the Cloverleaf Creamery Co., station here to the Delphos plant. That means quite a "bunch" of cream, the farmers of Marion and Washington townships, for the rate is 49 cents now, about four cents higher than in other places.

"Farmers living five to seven miles out bring their cream here," said Mrs. D. M. Bliss, local manager, today. "We are sending 70 cans of cream a week, and have sent as high as 117 cans per week. This is the time of year when the milk supply decreases," she continued. "So we are not sending quite so much. But I took charge of the station about three years ago. It was sending only eight cans weekly, but the business has grown."

Shipment is made daily over the Nickel Plate to Decatur, Ind.

BEET LOADINGS AVERAGE SIX CARLOADS PER DAY

DELPHOS — Six carloads of sugar beets were loaded here Tuesday for the beet canner at Decatur, Ind. This is about the daily average now. Occasionally seven cars are loaded in a day, depending on how fast the loads come in from the fields. Plenty of beets are available, and many of them are of the large hopper type.

A break in the hoisting machinery by which the cars are loaded caused delay in shipping the latter part of last week and several carloads of beets were dumped on the ground near the weighing station. These will be taken care of in slack time. Some of the growers have finished having their crops taken care of.

The legion post has not resumed meetings after the summer vacation, but Commander Ira Huber states a meeting to open the fall and winter season will be held the last Thursday in the month. The second and fourth Thursdays have been the regular meeting nights heretofore.

WHY GROW FAT?

Druggist Tells of Easy Pleasant Way to Keep Trim Attractive Figure Even at Middle Age

Thousands of women who have had a trim, stylish figure all their lives, begin to take on weight in early middle life. And because they have "Fat and Forty"—and because foolish starvation diets, ridiculous exercises and certain medicine only seem to make their condition worse, they give up all hope and say, "Oh, well, I rather be fat, anyway."

Fat that shows—fat that comes and goes—does not mean danger. It is a warning, however, of a decided disadvantage to your necessary activity and pleasures. So, why stay that way?

No special exercises or diets! No dangerous or sickening medicines! Just a cooling, sparkling, appetizing pleasant to take—but quickly and noticeably effective.

Enterpris Drug Store or any good druggist can supply you with a large bottle of Wendell's Salt. Ambition Brand, for 80 cents and will return your money on the first bottle purchased if you are not more than satisfied.—Adv.

SCHOOL BLOCKED BY SIGN

Salvation Army Unable to Begin Sunday School House

Should an ungainly sign board prevent the erection of a building to be used exclusively for religious purposes, especially when the project is financed by the public thru the efforts of a club?

That is the situation faced by Captain F. W. Wilkinson of the Salvation Army, whose efforts to start immediate construction of a building to be used for the South Side Sunday school have been checked.

Recently the Lions' club raised $400 for the Salvation Army to build a school building for children living on the south side.

Arrangements were made to erect the building on a lot owned by C. Y. Lathrop, 317 S. Pierce-st. The property on which the Sunday school is to be built is the third lot south of the Erie railroad on Metcalf-st.

Across the front of the lot is a sign board owned by a sign company which claims to have a two-year lease on the space, the company refusing to remove the sign.

Captain Wilkinson said Wednesday he hoped some arrangement can be made with the company in order that the much-needed Sunday school building can be built.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

FLOWERS KEEP HER YOUNG

Flowers keep this 70-year-old English woman young. "And when I die," she says, "many, many years from now, I hope I'll have my flowers too."

For she is London's oldest flower girl, a figure on the leading corners of the city.

Her name?

"It's long been forgotten," she says smiling, "I'm just the old flower girl of Bond-st."

All London knows her. She has been on her job for more than 50 years.

Rounders in top hats, workmen with their little dinner pails, society ladies going out, children going home—all are customers. For each she has a smile—

And just the right kind of flower.

Bring In Late Annuals

(BY LOUISE S. MARSHALL)
THE real garden lover is never without one. When winter approaches she makes her first indoor garden of the season by using the late blooming annuals from outdoors.

Pots of French marigolds, taken from the outdoor garden, before frost, old-fashioned balsams, sweet alyssum, giant candytuft will cheer up the living rooms for several weeks.

They should be watered before they get too dry, and a showered often.

Pots of seedlings of annuals are very satisfactory for the winter garden. Start the seeds early enough in the season to insure well-grown plants at the time of bringing them into the house.

A CHICKEN DINNER WILL BE SERVED AT THE FIRST UNITED BRETHREN CHURCH, CORNER OF SPRING AND UNION, TOMORROW. PRICE .35.

showed it to him once, when they were down here together. Then he falls to moaning and sobbing again, and I tell him I am going to get the girl, but I don't want Ranger in on it yet; and if he'll keep his mouth shut about what he knows, I'll padlock mine about him. Silence for silence.

"Just as we were stepping out into the blessed sunlight of freedom—only it was raining—my eye fell on a high board fence across the street from the house; and there, life-sized and prominent, a glad message of 'Welcome to Our City,' stared back at me. It's chalked up in hobo language; and let me tell you, that he who read me very apt to run. It said: 'Beat it for the Far West at once, or you'll have your throat slit!'

"There was a nice little knot of on-lookers there, waiting to see the prisoner shake off his chains; and I knew the Combline would have some innocent bystander on hand to make sure I got the friendly word. So I fell over against Bryan, setting scared to death, and a minute later told Simonds that he wouldn't see me again in these parts, as I was off for sunny California, and intended to stay there.

"Then I went with Bryan to the train, checked my motor-cycle to New York, rode up the line for three stations, hopped a freight back again, dropped off, and making my way through these rain-soaked woods, sneaked into the house.

"Look here, Kelsey, is there one human soul in that hospital you can trust, or think you can?"

Kelsey reflected.

"Morton," he said, "the house physician. I could trust him, if we were able to convince him that Bristow is crooked."

"We've got to get him here then, without his knowing who we are; and I'll undertake to convince him. You see, we must have some one inside the place who'll find out for us what they're planning. Think hard, Kelsey; what will bring him here? Some girl he is interested in?"

Kelsey dismissed this, palms down. "That wouldn't bring him; science is all he cares for. Wait a minute," a light flashed over his face. "I helped him write a letter to one of the medical journals, rebutting the statements in an article by a Dr. Jonas Crayshaw. He was tremendously worked up about it. Why couldn't we get word to him that Dr. Crayshaw is down there writing an answer, and would like to have a talk with him?"

"Great!" Charlie thumped Kelsey between the shoulders. "I'll take a chance and sneak out to the nearest farm-house, and telephone him in the character of Dr. Crayshaw, asking him not to mention my presence here to any one as I am working against time and must have the strictest seclusion."

"But it's dangerous for you to show yourself around here," Kelsey said. "Maybe, I—?"

"I'll show just as little of myself as possible, believe me," Charlie answered. "And if I don't come back tonight, and then try to reach Ranger."

He paused, and ran his hands through his hair.

"I don't know but what I'd better call up Lorry after all," he wavered. "We've got to have money. Morton may need it in the hospital to buy a spy or so. Lord! I hate it. Lorry might queer everything."

Kelsey gave a little jump, and smiled for the first time.

"Don't let the lack of funds worry you," he said; and drew from his pocket the package of bonds, spreading them fan-wise on the table.

"A hundred thousand dollars!" Charlie gasped at them. "Jumping Jehosophat! Why, it's Ranger's ransom-money. Where did you get it?"

Kelsey told him, Charlie flinging the while and cutting fantastic pigeon-wings.

CHAPTER XXIII

When Hope drove back through the hospital grounds and walked between two men up the steps, down which she had flown a few hours before palpitating with her splendid dreams of freedom, she was hardly conscious of the ignominious contrast.

Anita Copley met her in the hall, and in that full dangle of light surveyed her gloatingly, a cruel sweeping glance that took in the girl from head to foot.

She caught Hope by the arm and led her upstairs to her room, thrusting her in through the door before her. Hope tottered to a chair and fell into it.

"Come, get undressed," Anita ordered.

Hope twisted petulantly, and let her head fall back again. But Miss Copley caught her by the wrist and jerked her to her feet.

Whimpering, Hope rubbed her arm.

"So dark in the woods," she sighed. "We walked and walked, and rain and rain."

Hope lay down docilely, and almost immediately seemed to fall asleep.

Anita, after lowering the light, seated herself where she could keep her eyes on both her charge and the door. She sat upright, nerves and muscles rigid, listening for some actively below. Once she rose precipitately and stepped softly past Hope's bed, opened the door and listened. Coming back, she took up the same waiting attitude, and pressed her hands distractedly to her temples.

Over an hour, surely almost two, must have passed; and they had not brought Kelsey back.

At last the woman could bear her vigil no longer. She got up again, bent over Hope to assure herself that she was asleep, then turning down the light to a spark, went out, locking the door behind her.

GEORGE CHRISTIAN SEEKS TO BUY CLEVELAND INDIAN

Ohio Football Enthusiasts Looking Forward To Michigan Battle Next Saturday

Interest Follows Big Ten Activities While Hard Practice Marks Interim

CHRISTIAN AFTER INDIANS

WASHINGTON—(By United Press.)—George B. Christian, Jr., of Marion, Ohio, secretary to the late President Harding, wants to buy the Cleveland American League baseball club.

But so far, he has made no offer for the property.

"If I can raise the money, I'll like to do it," said Christian. "But I have made no negotiations whatsoever."

Mrs. James C. Dunn is the present owner of the club. She is the widow of James C. Dunn, former owner. She is reported to be eager to sell the club.

Indications are that Christian will make an offer for the club soon.

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Interest among followers of Big Ten football this week centers on practice activities at the camps of Michigan, opponent Saturday of Ohio State, and Illinois, which will meet Iowa, the games being regarded as the most important so far of the 1923 campaign.

The Michigan-Buckeye game may develop into an aerial fight, as forward passing and plays built about the pass are being stressed in the workout of both teams.

The offensive equipment of the Iowa Hawkeyes is being enlarged, with stiff scrimmages planned for the next two days.

Coach Zuppke, Illinois mentor, is sorting over material to replace several vacancies in his squad caused by injuries and scholarship deficiencies.

Signal drills so far have been the principal preparation Wisconsin has made this week for its first conference clash on Saturday with Indiana, conqueror of Purdue last week.

The Hoosiers are taking extended workout under arc lights this week. Neighborhood differences will be settled by Northwestern and Chicago, the former anxious to recoup its losses and the latter making its 1923 conference debut.

Minnesota and Purdue, which take the field against the non-conference North Dakota and Wabash teams, respectively, are trying new combinations and devoting their time to light workouts.

NORTHERN NOTES

ADA, Ohio — (Special to The Lima News) — Several Northern gridlers will be out of the game for a few days due to injuries received in the Wesleyan contest Saturday. "Chic" Smith, right half, will probably not be in condition to play against Reserve this coming Saturday, while Vander, who started the game at left end, had his leg badly twisted.

Smith was pretty badly battered during his stay in the game Saturday. Assistant Coach Sharer ran the men thru calisthenic workouts Monday afternoon. Most of the squad, especially those who participated in the Wesleyan game, were given a rest.

Reserve was thought to be a weak team when the season started, but since their first game the Cleveland outfit has loomed as a dark horse in the race for the Ohio Conference championship. Last Saturday they defeated Hiram 10-0. Because of this victory Reserve is doped by the experts to have a big chance of taking the conference championship as Hiram had previously won two conference games against Oberlin and case.

So the Polar Bears are up against a hard proposition this week-end. Beginning Tuesday they will be given stiff workouts by Coach Newton, who believes his team can win over the Clevelanders because of the wonderful showing they made against Wesleyan. Altho defeated 14-6, the Northerners showed up well, their forward passing attack having Wesleyan bewildered in the second half.

Kerchner's brilliant work in the Methodist game stamped him as being of all-Ohio caliber. He is being counted on greatly by his teammates to help shove in a win over Reserve.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio — Freshmen playing football at Wittenberg are getting more than their share of rough treatment in scrimmages with 'Varsity. Coach Godfrey is driving his men into their lines without mercy. Mentally ever regular is getting in that frame of mind that every opponent must be a Ohio Wesleyan player. Coach Godfrey plans to use a great number of players on Oct. 23 when the stadium is dedicated, and changes in the line-up are now frequent. Dick Criss, regular tackle last year, upon getting his parents' consent, is back in uniform.

That the freshmen are giving 'Varsity some real scrimmage is certain. Upon bucking over tackle the other day, Paul Batdorf, diminutive quarterback, was tackled so hard by a varsity that he turned a complete flip in the air before his feet struck the gridiron.

FARRELL GRAPHICALLY DESCRIBES LAST GAME OF WORLD SERIES

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

World's champions for the first time in history, the New York Yanks are now holding the throne occupied for two years by the proud Giants of John McGraw.

The Yanks are real champions by a hard earned, well-deserved victory over the best team in the National League.

With a game heart that carried them thru seven innings of the final contest when Art Nehf was making their big guns puff like pop guns, the Yanks crashed thru in the eighth and won the deciding game at 6-4.

The motor which propelled the frail arm of Nehf started missing in the eighth inning with one down and before McGraw could do anything to stop the rush, five runs were over the plate and the championship was gone.

Terrible pitching, which caused the Giants to go down two games to four in the series that meant so much to them, was the handicap that they carried thru the series against one of the most savage hitting teams in baseball. Thruout the entire series the Giants battled hard and played fine baseball, but they couldn't get the pitching. The Yanks had everything.

The Giants had a lead of 4 to 1 when Nehf got Ward for the first out in the eighth inning. Then the works blew.

Schlag singled for the third hit of the game and the surprising Deacon Scott who had never hit to right field in his career, crashed a single by Kelly and Frisch.

"There goes Nehf," came a yell from the Yankee dugout when Fred Hoffman was rushed in to bat for Herb Pennock, the spidersouthpaw, who had been having trouble from the start.

NEHF ALL IN

McGraw ordered Nehf to let Hoffman hit and the Giants moved on for their toes for a double play. But Nehf had gone. He couldn't follow the simplest pitching order that could be given. He walked Hoffman and filled the bases. Turning to strategy, Miller Huggins sent in Joe Bush, his star pitcher, to bat for little Whitey Witt.

"Let him hit and double 'em," McGraw again ordered.

Nehf had completely collapsed. He couldn't find the plate even to groove it and Bush walked, forcing Schlag over the plate.

MOVIEIZED MUSIC

(BY GERTRUDE GILHAM)

NEXT Grand Cinema. Just as grand opera is the combination of music and drama, Grand Cinema will be the combination of music and movies. Arthur Bliss, English composer, believes the cinema in its silence offers a better field to the composer for blending music and dramatic art than does the drama of speech. Then, too, grand opera qualifications of acting and singing ability in the same persons are seldom fulfilled. Grand Cinema calls for acting technique by one set of performers in the studio, and musical technique by another set in the theater orchestra.

Motion pictures have done much to popularize the so-called musical classics. Many theaters have assembled remarkable orchestras. But this musical appreciation and these orchestras are not made integral with the picture.

The music is usually mere accompaniment to the movie. The tendency to compose special scores is coming more into vogue: Arthur Jell is writing a musical score for Mae Murray's "Fashion Row."

Frederick S. Converse (in the east) is writing a "photoplay-symphony" to accompany Glenn Hunter's screen impersonation of Percy MacKaye's "The Scarecrow" under the title "Puritan Passions."

Victor Schertzinger, composer as well as film director, has written scores for his own productions. This approaches the idea of Grand Cinema.

The association of Charles Wakefield Cadman, the composer, and Ferdinand Earle, the director, in the latter film version of "Faust" appears a genuine attempt in "Grand Cinema."

Many Noted Players In Elinor Gly's "Six Days"

THE all-star cast at one time considered something new in the picture world. But now it has become the accepted thing with motion picture audiences. Producers in their efforts to make a higher class of pictures have seen the necessity of selecting the best players available.

Charles Brabin, in his production of Elinor Gly's sensational story "Six Days" appearing at the Lyric until Friday, spent more than a month in choosing players for the cast.

Corinne Griffith and Frank Mayo, who head the brilliant list, have long been stars in their own right. Mayo started pictures in 1912 playing the leading role in a picture produced in England. Corinne Griffith made her debut on the screen in 1917, when she played the feminine lead in a picture called "Bitter Sweet."

Nora Bayes Coming To Faurot

No announcement of the coming season carries with it more importance than that of the forthcoming appearance on Wednesday, Oct. 24, at the Faurot of Nora Bayes, the brilliant musical comedy star, whose recent successes in London have added to her international fame as one of the most gifted and delightful entertainers. No singer of songs today can so enthrall an audience as can Nora Bayes in fact she has but two equals in popular entertainment—Sir Harry Lauder and Al Jolson. Miss Bayes' last three great musical comedy hits on the legitimate stage played the feminine lead in a picture called "Bitter Sweet." The remainder of the cast consists of a number of best known and experienced players in motion pictures. Myrtle Stedman, qualified as a gifted actress in 1912, and for several years was starred in three-reel features. Maude George, whose ability as a dramatic actress was never more evident than in the interpretation in one of the leading roles in Von Stroheim's "Foolish Wives," has an important role in "Six Days." Claude King has had less picture experience, but has had a long and distinguished stage career. He first came to this country from England in 1909 to play opposite Ethel Barrymore in "Deceit." He made his debut before the camera with Pola Negri in her first photoplay filmed here in 1917, when she played the role of "Ladies First," the satire on season carries with it more importance than that of the forthcoming appearance on Wednesday, Oct. 24, at the Faurot of Nora Bayes, the brilliant musical comedy star, whose recent successes in London have added to her international fame as one of the most gifted and delightful entertainers. "The Victory Ball" Included In Sousa's Repertoire

SINCE military music is almost invariably written in march time since Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa has written so many marches that he is known all over the world as "The March King," it is easy for the imagination to form a reason—two reasons—Sousa's having arranged for band and included in his programs, this year, Ernest Schelling's "The Victory Ball," originally a piano number. Schelling is Paderewski's potential best pupil, and has been heard in piano recital with a great deal of interest and pleasure for several years; and, as a composer in the modern style, he ranks among the first in the country. New York papers have given "The Victory Ball" words of highest praise, especially when played by the Philadelphia, the New York Philharmonic, and the Chicago Symphony Orchestras, during the past season. So it is not difficult to imagine why Sousa, the man who wrote "The Stars and Stripes Forever," "El Capitán," and a host of other military marches, should favor a piece called "The Victory Ball." And then, too, one might wonder if the fact that Schelling, (a major in the United States army during the late war) who was recently decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal, might not have influenced Sousa, himself a naval officer, in the selection of the piece. Sousa and his band will be heard in concert at Memorial Hall on Wednesday, October 24. The seat sale is at Porter's Music Store.

"My China Doll"

"My China Doll" musical extravaganza arrived in Lima Wednesday morning, for performance at the Faurot after noon and evening, playing a popular matinee at 3:30.

In a review of this clever musical skit the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, of Sunday, October 14, says: "From an entertainment standpoint 'My China Doll' ranks high. Once begun there is a rapidity of action and the cleverness of the various members in the cast in their change of characters and settings proves them versatile performers of the stage."

LIMA PEOPLE "CALLED" FOR SLIGHT ATTENTION THEY GIVE CONVENTION

Lima people, whether they belong to the Ohio Welfare Conference or not have a perfect right to be present at all meetings, both general and divisional, Secretary G. H. Knight said Wednesday. He made the remark because of the fact that Lima is showing less interest, he said, in the welfare conference than any other city where the conference has been held in the last 33 years.

"We came here to give the people of this city and this section a chance to hear these noted speakers discuss the great welfare questions of the day," said Secretary Knight. "But for some reason Lima is showing absolutely no interest in the meetings. While we have the largest registration of visitors and delegates from outside the convention city that we have ever had, we have the smallest registration from the convention city and the least interest shown by people of the city that we have ever had since the conferences started 33 years ago." Secretary Knight said that people can register for the conference without having to pay any dues. These are paid only for membership in the organization.

SOUTH STILL HOPES FORD WILL GET SHOALS

INDIANAPOLIS — The south has not given up hope of having Henry Ford operate the vast power plant at Muscle Shoals, Ala., Governor W. W. Brandon of Alabama, told the United Press today. Everywhere in the south there is strong hope that Ford will take over the government project in spite of the sale of the Morgans plant to another concern, he said.

Brandon and thirty governors left Indianapolis today for West Baden, Ind., for their 15th annual conference. With the south now enjoying better times, than at any time since the war, Ford's coming would mean a tremendous economic impetus and sustained prosperity, Brandon said.

GEORGE CHRISTIAN SEEKS TO BUY CLEVELAND INDIAN

Ohio Football Enthusiasts Looking Forward To Michigan Battle Next Saturday

Interest Follows Big Ten Activities While Hard Practice Marks Interim

CHRISTIAN AFTER INDIANS

WASHINGTON—(By United Press).—George B. Christian, Jr., of Marion, Ohio, secretary to the late President Harding, wants to buy the Cleveland American League baseball club.

But so far, he has made no offer for the property.

"If I can raise the money, I'd like to do it," said Christian. "But I have made no negotiations whatsoever."

Mrs. James C. Dunn is the present owner of the club. She is the widow of James C. Dunn, former owner. She is reported to be eager to sell the club.

Indications are that Christian will make an offer for the club soon.

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Interest among followers of Big Ten football this week centers on practice activities at the camps of Michigan, opponent Saturday of Ohio State, and Illinois, which will meet Iowa, the games being regarded as the most important so far of the 1933 campaign.

The Michigan-Buckeye game may develop into an aerial fight, as forward passing and plays built about the pass are being stressed in the workout of both teams.

The offensive equipment of the Iowa Hawkeyes is being enlarged, with stiff scrimmages planned for the next two days.

Coach Zuppke, Illinois mentor, is sorting over material to replace several vacancies in his squad caused by injuries and scholarship deficiencies.

Signal drills so far have been the principal preparation Wisconsin has made this week for its first conference clash on Saturday with Indiana, conqueror of Purdue last week. The Hoosiers are taking extended workout under the lights this week.

Neighborhood differences will be settled by Northwestern and Chicago, the former anxious to recoup its losses and the latter making its 1933 conference debut.

Minnesota and Purdue, which take the field against the non-conference North Dakota and Wabash teams, respectively, are trying new combinations and devoting their time to light workouts.

NORTHERN NOTES

ADA, Ohio.—(Special to The Lima News).—Several Northern gridirons will be out of the game for a few days due to injuries received in the Wesleyan contest Saturday. "Chic" Smith, right half, will probably not be in condition to play against Reserve this coming Saturday, while Vander, who started the game at left end, had his leg badly twisted. Smith was pretty badly battered during his stay in the game Saturday.

Assistant Coach Sharer ran the men thru calisthenic workouts Monday afternoon. Most of the squad, especially those who participated in the Wesleyan game, were given a rest.

Reserve was thought to be a weak team when the season started, but since their first game the Cleveland outfit has loomed as a dark horse in the race for the Ohio Conference championship. Last Saturday they defeated Hiram 10-0. Because of this victory Reserve is doped by the experts to have a big chance of taking the conference championship as Hiram had previously won two conference games against Oberlin and Case.

So the Polar Bears are up against a hard proposition this week-end. Beginning Tuesday they will be given stiff workouts by Coach Newton, who believes his team can win over the Clevelanders because of the wonderful showing they made against Wesleyan. Altho defeated 14-6, the Northerners showed up well, their forward passing attack having Wesleyan bewildered in the second half.

Korchner's brilliant work in the Methodist game stamped him as being of all-Ohio caliber. He is being counted on greatly by his teammates to help shove in a win over Reserve.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio.—Freshmen playing football at Wittenberg are getting more than their share of rough treatment in scrimmages with varsity. Coach Godfrey is driving his men into their lines without mercy. Mentally ever regular is getting in that frame of mind that every opponent must be a Ohio Wesleyan player. Coach Godfrey plans to use a great number of players on Oct. 20 when the stadium is dedicated, and changes in the line-up are now frequent. Dick Criss, regular tackle last year, upon getting his parents' consent, is back in uniform. He may be used at end.

That the freshmen are giving varsity some real scrimmage is certain. Upon bucking over tackle the other day, Paul Batdorf, diminutive quarterback, was tackled so hard by a yearling that he turned a complete flip in the air before his feet struck the gridiron.

FARRELL GRAPHICALLY DESCRIBES LAST GAME OF WORLD SERIES

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

World's champions for the first time in history, the New York Yankees are now holding the throne occupied for two years by the proud Giants of John McGraw.

The Yanks are real champions by a hard earned, well-deserved victory over the best team in the National League.

With a game heart that carried them thru seven innings of the final contest when Art Nehf was making their big guns puff like pop guns, the Yanks crashed thru in the eighth and won the deciding game at 6-4.

The motor which propelled the frail arm of Nehf started misfiring in the eighth inning with one down and before McGraw could do anything to stop the rush, five runs were over the plate and the championship was gone.

Terrific pitching, which caused the Giants to go down two games to four in the series that meant so much to them, was the handicap that they carried thru the series against one of the most savage hitting teams in baseball. Thruout the entire series the Giants battled hard and played fine baseball, but they couldn't get the pitching. The Yanks had everything.

The Giants had a lead of 4 to 3 when Nehf got Ward for the last out in the eighth inning. Then the works blew.

Schang singled for the third hit of the game and the surprising Deacon Scott who had never hit to right field in his career, crashed a single by Kelly and Frisch.

"There goes Nehf," came a yell from the Yankee dugout when Fred Hoffman was rushed in to bat for Herb Pennock, the spidery southpaw, who had been having trouble from the start.

NEHF ALL IN

McGraw ordered Nehf to let Hoffman hit and the Giants moved on on their toes for a double play. But Nehf had gone. He couldn't follow the simplest pitching order that could be given. He walked Hoffman and filled the bases. Turning to strategy, Miller Huggins sent in Joe Bush, his star pitcher, to bat for little Whitey Witt.

"Let him hit and double 'em," McGraw again ordered.

Nehf had completely collapsed. He couldn't find the plate, even to groove it and Bush walked, forcing Schang over the plate.

IN SQUARED CIRCLE

HAVANA.—(By Associated Press).—Luis Angel Firpo has arrived here on his way to Lima, Peru, where on November 4 expects to give a boxing exhibition before proceeding to his home city, Buenos Aires. He said he would return to Havana next April and go to the United States in May.

ured with Ruth out of the way and two down the rally was over.

Ryan relaxed a little, "let down" unconsciously, as they say, and he didn't get enough on the ball. It failed to break.

MEUSEL ENDS SERIES

Meusel murdered it and the game was over, the championship was won by the Yanks. There are some who scoff at the thought of sentiment in professional baseball, where the purse is supposed to have as much appeal as it has among boxers. There is sentiment in baseball.

No one could have doubted it had they been able to see Art Nehf walk to the dugout with tears streaming down his cheeks, had they been able to look at him on the Giants' bench, with his head in his hands and his frame shaken with sobs.

Sorrow over the loss of the money representing the difference between the winners' and losers' end of the series does not bring out emotions like that.

YANKS GO CRAZY

Sentiment, almost like college boy stuff, was pulled by the Yanks at the end of the game. They jumped about and acted like crazy kids.

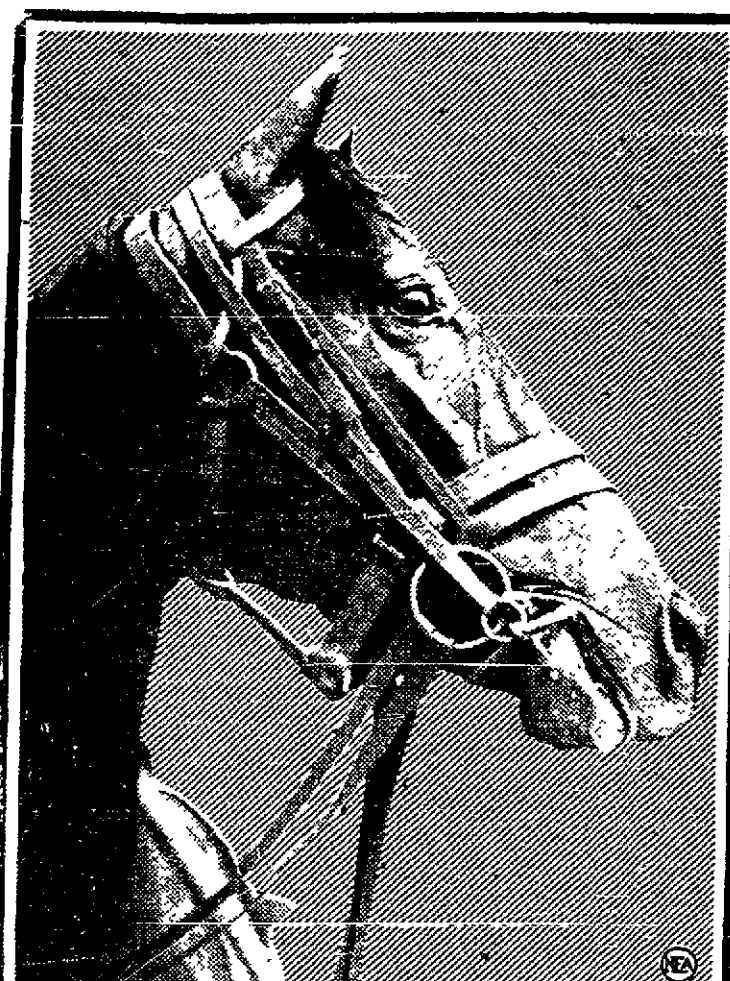

The most touching scene was enacted in the Yankee clubhouse. It will be remembered that Miller Huggins once was the joke manager of the club who occupied the manager's office and nothing else.

When the Yanks were coming out of the showers, Babe Ruth jumped to the rubbing board and shouted for silence.

"Fellows," he said, "we've just won the world's championship and we owe everything to 'Hug' for pulling us thru and sticking behind us in everything for three years. He has done a fine thing this year and we all know it. Mr. Huggins, we want to present this to you as a little token of our respect and admiration."

He handed Huggins a beautiful diamond ring and the team gave three cheers for "Hug."

ENGLISH DERBY WINNER TO RACE ZEV

PAPYRUS, WINNER OF ENGLISH DERBY, WHO WILL RACE AMERICA'S BEST OCT. 20 FOR WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

As A Matter of Fact

By HARRY BRADBURY, Sports Editor

After all the "sport of kings" is the sport of the majority. We were apt to wonder at the tremendous crowds that jammed into the great Yankee stadium, or the Polo Grounds, at every game of the world's series. SHORT SHAVINGS

With Henry Ford and Governor Gifford Pinchot not quite decided as to whether they will run for the presidency, the public is a little at sea. It is understood, however, that both are rehearsing a receptive mood.

With roller skating all the rage down at Columbus Grove we are about ready to get out of the way of a ping pong revival in Lima.

The offer "Come home and get $40,000," sounds all right but it has a string attached to it. In order to get it, the son must accept the business. We have seen some business propositions we would not accept for a lot more than $40,000.

Melancholy Days
Now comes the time of year when our dear wives will shout: "Please hurry home, my dear. The furnace fire is out." —Sam 1101.

The plant is very sad. But one I know is worst. My wife calls up and says: "The water pipes have burst."

With bullet proof vests offered as a defense against armed thugs we recommend battleship armor for defense against automobile murderers.

Dr. Faverstein has been elected president of the Berlin reichsbanks. Haverstein of what?

"Police 3rd Degree Methods Condemned by Prison Expert" headline in The Lima News. Chief Lanker has met up with some experts on prisons that would be willing to condemn the third degree too.

A native of the Southern mountains was told his son, who had gone out into the world, was dead. "Was he shot?" asked the old man. "No, he wasn't shot," was the answer. "Drink himself to death?" "No, didn't drink himself to death." "Then, yer a liar. That's only two ways o' dyin'."

One good thing, Judge Poling of criminal court does not have any trouble making his "charge customers" pay up even if some of the merchants do.

"Cleveland bridegroom jailed," says a news item. Well, he might as well get used to staying in right from the start.
